WAMDEVIN HOLDS INTERNATIONAL LEADERSHIP AND NETWORKING WORKSHOP

The West African Management Development Institutes Network (WAMDEVIN) recently convened a high-level international workshop under the theme "Strategic Leadership for National Transformation through Collaboration, Innovation and Institutional Excellence."

The event, which was held at the Centre for Management Development (CMD), Ikeja, Lagos from 25th - 27th November, 2025 brought together leaders and practitioners from public sector institutions, academia and private organisations across West Africa. It focused on how strategic leadership, enhanced institutional capacity, innovation and collaborative partnerships can drive sustainable national transformation.

Key sessions highlighted the role of institutional excellence in improving service delivery, the use of innovation to tackle developmental challenges, and how cross-sector collaboration fosters shared solutions and greater impact. Participants left with action-oriented commitments to strengthen networks, institute innovative practices and reinforce institutional mechanisms in their home organisations.

WAMDEVIN's leadership emphasised that the workshop aligns with its mission of building capacity among management development institutions in the sub-region and supporting public-sector reform through knowledge sharing and partnerships.

WAMDEVIN ELECTS ALHAJI ALIEU JARJU AS NEW PRESIDENT

The West African Management Development Institutes Network (WAMDEVIN) has officially elected Alhaji Alieu Jarju, Director-General of the Management Development Institute (MDI), The Gambia, as its new President.

In taking the helm, Jarju succeeds the outgoing President, Hon. Nee Alah T. Varpilla and brings to the role his experience in institutional capacity building and regional collaboration. The election signals WAMDEVIN's continued emphasis on strong leadership to advance its mandate of capacity development, training, research and consultancy across Anglophone West Africa.

Jarju emphasised that his presidency will focus on strengthening cross-border partnerships, deepening institutional excellence among member MDIs, and promoting innovation in public sector management. He pledged to support WAMDEVIN's goals of enhancing governance and public service delivery in member countries.

WAMDEVIN Executive Secretary welcomed the new appointment and indicated that under Jarju's leadership, the network will intensify efforts towards aligning training and research programmes with regional policy priorities and institutional reform agendas.

ASCON DG NAMED 2025/2026 AIG-BLAVATNIK VISITING FELLOW AT OXFORD

Dr. (Mrs.) Funke Adepoju
Director-General, ASCON

The Director-General of the Administrative Staff College of Nigeria (ASCON), Dr. (Mrs.) Funke Adepoju, has been selected as the 2025/2026 AIG-Blavatnik Visiting Fellow at the Blavatnik School of Government, University of Oxford.

Her selection places her among an elite group of distinguished Nigerians who have earned the prestigious fellowship, including former INEC Chairman Prof. Attahiru Jega and former FIRS Chairman Mrs. Ifueko Omoigui-Okauru.

A seasoned administrator and reform advocate, Mrs. Adepoju has been leading ASCON's transformation from a conventional training institute into a national reform hub and reform accelerator. Her leadership agenda emphasizes linking capacity building to reform outcomes, mainstreaming digital governance in public sector training, and aligning institutional programs with Nigeria's Federal Civil Service Strategy and Implementation Plan 2025 (FCSSIP-25) and the Renewed Hope Agenda. Reacting to her selection, Adepoju described the fellowship as both a personal honor and a national opportunity:

"This opportunity is not just personal; it is national. The AIG-Blavatnik Fellowship provides a global platform to rethink how management training institutes can evolve into reform accelerators. I am determined to leverage this experience to strengthen ASCON as Nigeria's reform hub and contribute to Africa's broader governance transformation," she stated.

The AIG-Blavatnik Fellowship, awarded annually to exceptional public servants across West Africa, offers recipients the opportunity to conduct research, engage in global policy dialogue, and design innovative governance solutions in partnership with the University of Oxford.

PROF. DURAMANY-LAKKOH APPOINTED DEPUTY VICE-CHANCELLOR OF IPAM

The University of Sierra Leone (USL) has appointed Associate Professor Duramany-Lakkoh as the new Deputy Vice-Chancellor of IPAM, effective 1 October 2025.

Duramany-Lakkoh succeeds his predecessor (Professor Mariam Conteh-Morgan) and steps into a leadership role tasked with advancing IPAM's reputation in business and management studies and spearheading institutional reforms.

In his statement of gratitude, he described the appointment as "an honour and a call to serve," and pledged to focus on academic excellence, research innovation and broader community impact through the institute. He also thanked the University Court, the Ministry of Technical and Higher Education, the academic community and well-wishers for their confidence.

Prof. Duramany-Lakkoh
Deputy Vice-Chancellor, IPAM

He is a senior professional accountant and financial economist, with more than 15 years of experience in corporate finance, business development and venture capital management. He previously served as Dean of the Faculty of Accounting & Finance at USL and has held roles in both academia and policy research.

REPS COMMITTEE ON PUBLIC SERVICE MATTERS INSPECTS PROJECTS, ANNOUNCES 500KW SOLAR POWER INSTALLATION AT ASCON

A delegation from the House of Representatives Committee on Public Service Matters paid an oversight visit to the Administrative Staff College of Nigeria (ASCON) last week, inspecting the College's facilities and programmes.

During the visit, the Committee's chairman, Dr. Sani Bala, disclosed that the Federal Government has commenced the installation of a 500-kilowatt solar power system at ASCON to boost reliable electricity supply and reduce diesel dependency.

ASCON management briefed the lawmakers on ongoing training initiatives, infrastructure upgrades and the College's role in national capacity building. Both parties agreed on follow-up technical engagements to strengthen ASCON's support for public service reform.

PSSDC TRAINS EDUCATORS ON CONTINUOUS ASSESSMENT FOR IMPROVED LEARNING OUTCOMES

The Director-General of the Lagos State Public Service Staff Development Centre (PSSDC), Mr. Adekunmilola Adio-Moses, has emphasized the importance of continuous assessment as a dynamic approach to learning that provides ongoing feedback and a holistic view of student progress.

Speaking through his representative, Mr. Olusola Kolawole, at the opening of a three-day training workshop for educators held at the PSSDC, Magodo, Lagos, Adio-Moses said the training titled "Continuous Assessment and Use of Tests in Schools" aims to enhance teachers' capacity to effectively implement continuous assessment strategies in the classroom.

He explained that continuous assessment offers a richer evaluation of students' understanding through quizzes, projects, presentations, and participation—beyond traditional end-of-course examinations.

Adio-Moses assured participants that the training would help them design diverse assessment tools, manage test administration effectively, and maintain accurate records. He urged the educators to actively engage and share knowledge, reaffirming PSSDC's commitment to improving the quality of education in Lagos State.

The interactive sessions are expected to empower educators to apply continuous assessment techniques that enhance teaching effectiveness and improve students' learning outcomes across the state.

ITF TO TRAIN OVER 100,000 ARTISANS UNDER SUPA BY DECEMBER 2025

The Industrial Training Fund (ITF) has announced that its flagship Skill-Up Artisans Programme (SUPA) will train in excess of 100,000 artisans by December 2025, with the aim of bringing them up to international-standards.

Speaking in Akure, Director-General Oluwatoyin Afiz Ogun stated that the initiative seeks to bridge Nigeria's skills gap and prevent foreign artisans from "taking our jobs," emphasising that the programme will cover technical trades and certification examinations across the country. SUPA's structure includes:

- ✓ A foundation phase for existing and aspiring artisans to receive soft-skill training.
- ✓ Technical training and trades certification in over 30 trade areas, including plumbing, welding, automotive work and electrical installation.
- ✓ Three exit routes: direct employment in Nigeria industries, export of skilled labour, and business incubation for entrepreneurial participants.

The ITF emphasises this is not a hand-out programme but a sustainable skills development intervention designed to raise "dignity in labour" and enhance Nigeria's competitiveness in the global labour market.

WAMDEVIN CELEBRATES 38 YEARS OF IMPACTFUL SERVICE IN MANAGEMENT DEVELOPMENT

The West African Management Development Institutes' Network (WAMDEVIN) has marked its 38th anniversary, celebrating nearly four decades of advancing management education, leadership excellence, and institutional capacity development across West Africa.

Since its establishment, WAMDEVIN has played a pivotal role in promoting collaboration among management development institutes, fostering innovation, and supporting public sector transformation within the region.

In commemorating the milestone, the Network reaffirmed its commitment to strengthening partnerships, driving regional integration, and promoting excellence in leadership training and governance reforms.

WAMDEVIN's leadership expressed gratitude to member institutions, partners, and stakeholders for their unwavering support and dedication to the Network's vision of building stronger, more resilient management institutions across West Africa.

WAMDEVIN HONOURS STAFF WITH LONG SERVICE AWARDS

The West African Management Development Institutes' Network (WAMDEVIN) has honoured members of its workforce with Long Service Awards, in recognition of their dedication, loyalty, and outstanding contributions to the organisation's growth over the years.

During the award ceremony, the Executive Secretary of WAMDEVIN commended the recipients for their professionalism and steadfast commitment to the Network's mission of strengthening management development and institutional excellence across West Africa.

He noted that the recognition reflects WAMDEVIN's culture of valuing excellence and rewarding service, adding that the organisation's success over the past decades has been driven by the hard work and integrity of its staff.

Award recipients expressed appreciation for the recognition, pledging to continue contributing to WAMDEVIN's vision of promoting leadership, innovation, and sustainable capacity development in the region.

ARMTI PARTNERS WITH ABIA STATE GOVERNMENT, LAUNCHES SOUTH EAST REGIONAL OFFICE

The Agricultural and Rural Management Training Institute (ARMTI) has struck a partnership with the Abia State government to revolutionize the practice of agriculture in the state through strategic interventions including training, rural development and empowerment initiatives towards wealth creation and empowerment for farmers in the state.

The collaboration was sealed during the week when Executive Director/CEO of ARMTI, Dr Olufemi Oladunni led a high powered delegation to a strategic meeting with the Executive Governor of Abia State, Dr Alex Otti.

Speaking at the meeting, the governor stressed his firm belief that agriculture holds a veritable key to unlock economic transformation and set his people on the track towards wealth creation. The governor explained that the state only recently concluded a training for about 200 youths that included empowerment, 'now with ARMTI on board, we can proceed to onboard successive batches, under the technical guidance and expertise of ARMTI.'

In his response, the Executive Director of ARMTI, Dr Olufemi Oladunni expressed appreciation to the Governor for his revolutionary policies and approach to governance while thanking him for making the state available for ARMTI to launch its operations in the south east. He praised the speedy manner in which a facility was made available for the institute to use for its operations while commending the effectiveness of the set up of the governor's team.

The ARMTI SE regional office would be housed in the premises of the Greater Ohafia Development Authority (GODA) from where ARMTI's operations and activities in the region would be launched.

ARMTI's regional training centres (RTCs) provide an avenue for more penetrative and direct impact to the remote, rural areas for full effect of government policies and interventions.
